

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to thank the first class who used a draft of this book for their patience and their corrections: Clayton Campbell, Clover Ercolin, Zach Guiliano, Kim Martin, Emily Oakley, Eden Olena, Stephanie (Payne) Clay, Samantha Richter, and Michael Ryswyk. Tremendous appreciation goes to my student assistant, Lynette Staswick, for the incredible help she has been with the production of this work (proofreading, finding examples, helping with creating exercises, pointing out where I need to be clearer, and a host of other things). I have also received valuable feedback from some who have gone over drafts of the work with a fine tooth comb: Brian Doak, Bob Caldwell, and Gabriel Blott. Their comments have helped with precision, clarity, organization, and diplomacy. I also wish to express thanks to Bing Bayer, whose feedback from use of the book in class has resulted in many improvements. Finally, my friend and colleague, Wave Nunnally, has constantly interacted with me about Hebrew issues and encouraged me along the way.
